These melamine-constructed terracotta-style flower pots aren't designed hold soil, but they might just plant seeds of culinary creativity, especially in outdoor settings. Fun. Versatile. Durable. They'll lend a stylish flourish to everything from BBQ to sides to desserts, and whatever you dream up. Talk about a fresh take on dining al fresco!

Nothing's more at home on a patio or in a garden seating area than a terracotta flower pot. But rather than flowers, this 16 ounce, 4-3/8" diameter melamine-constructed pot is designed to hold your myriad creations. It will lend a fun and stylish flourish to just about anything you can imagine serving outside, from BBQ to coleslaw to fries, or even condiments. But unlike actual terracotta, these pots are easy-to-sanitize and darn near unbreakable. You can knock them around, you can knock them over, but you can't knock them out of service.
